

Online Creation Justice Resources

United Church of Christ

The Kairos Call to Action's 10 Suggested Actions

In recognition of the urgent need to address the intertwined crisis of climate and inequality, the UCC Council for Climate Justice has defined the next ten years as a kairos window of divine opportunity in which people of faith are called to an all-out mobilization of their gifts and resources. The call to action puts forth ten ways churches can act.

Creation Care Voter Pledge

Those who care about the environment tend to vote less than the rest of the population. To help counter this trend, the UCC Council for Climate Justice spearheaded a faith-based initiative in partnership with the Environmental Voter Project. The initiative is called the Creation Care Voter Pledge, and it calls upon people of faith to make a commitment to consistently vote and to vote their values.

UCC Action Alerts

On a regular basis, the advocacy office of the UCC in Washington, DC issues action alerts. The current action alert invites people of faith to contact members of congress to urge their support for the Anti-Racism in Public Health Act. The call to action notes the historic role of the UCC in addressing environmental racism, an important factor in determining one's health.

The Pollinator Newsletter

The Pollinator is a digital platform of the UCC for the sharing of ideas and inspiration related to creation justice. Its focus is the building of a faith-filled and faith-rooted movement for the care of creation. Sign-up to receive the Pollinator e-newsletter.

Creation Justice Webinars

In partnership with Alabama Interfaith Power & Light, UCC Environmental Justice Ministries hosts guest speakers through a monthly program called Creation Justice Webinars. Past speakers have ranged from evangelical climate scientist Katharine Hayhoe to Senator Cory Booker. Sign-up to receive monthly notices about upcoming webinars.